For large-scale, containerized ESS (e.g., 100 kWh and above), costs can drop to $180 to $320 per kWh, depending on system size, integration, and local market conditions. These numbers are affected by: Regional labor and material costs Local grid policies or incentives Project scale and technical.

As a start, CEA has found that pricing for an ESS direct current (DC) container — comprised of lithium iron phosphate (LFP) cells, 20ft, ~3.7MWh capacity, delivered with duties paid to the US from China — fell from peaks of US$270/kWh in mid-2022 to US$180/kWh by the end of 2023. The primary price.

How containerised BESS costs change over time. Grid connection costs. Balance of Plant (BOP) costs. Operation and maintenance (O&M) costs. And the time taken for projects to progress from construction to commercial operations. Other variables add costs to projects. For the sake of simplification.

In 2025, the typical cost of a commercial lithium battery energy storage system, which includes the battery, battery management system (BMS), inverter (PCS), and installation, is in the following range: $280 - $580 per kWh (installed cost), though of course this will vary from region to region.

The ESS Price Forecasting Report provides a five-year forecast for the price of a DC battery container, including battery cells, modules, racking, and additional balance of system needed for a containerized battery system. The Q1 2025 report covers pricing outlook updates through March 2025.
