Overview

Does Italy have a battery storage market?

The research and analysis conducted for this report were supported by the European Climate Foundation. This report is part of a series that analyses the battery storage market in select European countries. Italy has both a rapidly growing utility-scale market as well as a flourishing customer-sited battery storage market.

How many GW of battery storage will Italy have by 2050?

The remaining 3–4 GW is expected to come from utility-scale systems. By 2050, Italy aims to achieve 30–40 GW of storage capacity. There are significant regional differences in the adoption of battery storage systems across the country.

How does Bess manage peak demand in Italy?

Management of Peak Demand: The pronounced peak demand for electricity in Italy during peak hours can strain the grid. BESS play a role in managing this peak demand by supplying stored energy when needed, reducing grid stress and minimizing the use of fossil fuel-based peaker plants.

What policies bolster the Italy Bess market?

Some notable policies bolstering the Italy BESS market include: Italian National Energy and Climate Plan (PNIEC): Italy's PNIEC outlines the country's energy and climate goals, including targets for renewable energy expansion and greenhouse gas emissions reduction.

Will Italy invest 1 billion in Bess by 2030?

The Italian government has announced plans to invest EUR 1 billion in BESS by 2030. The investment will be used to support the development of large-scale BESS projects and to improve the integration of renewable energy into the grid. The Italian utility company Terna has launched a tender for 100 MW of BESS capacity.

Why is Customer-Sited storage so popular in Italy?

Customer-sited storage adoption has been mainly driven by a combination of high electricity prices and generous tax incentives. For utility-scale systems, Italy has established favourable electricity market rules that enable projects to earn revenues from a range of different sources.
