In this article, we'll explore brand name suggestions tailored to the thermal energy storage landscape and the crucial elements involved in building an identity that can lead to marketing success. Thermal energy storage (TES) is a technology that stores energy in the form of heat for later use.

The Energy Storage Market Report is Segmented by Technology (Batteries, Pumped-Storage Hydroelectricity, Thermal Energy Storage, Compressed Air Energy Storage, Liquid Air/Cryogenic Storage, Flywheel Energy Storage, and Others), Connectivity (On-Grid and Off-Grid), Application (Grid-Scale Utility.

How did you come up with the name of an energy storage company?

The name of an energy storage company is typically conceived through a multitude of factors, including critical elements such as innovative essence, market alignment, and consumer resonance. 1. Incorporating cutting-edge technological. What are the different types of energy storage technologies?

Pumped hydro, batteries, hydrogen, and thermal storage are a few of the technologies currently in the spotlight. The global battery industry has been gaining momentum over the last few years, and investments in battery storage and power grids surpassed 450 billion U.S. dollars in 2024. Find the latest statistics and facts on energy storage.

How can energy storage manufacturers help the tiering list?

Energy storage manufacturers can help BloombergNEF assess them accurately for the tiering list by sending us data (at batterytier1@bloomberg.net) on the projects they have provided batteries and/or energy storage systems for. This data must include enough information to identify the project uniquely.

What is a Tier 1 energy storage brand?

The criterion for an energy storage brand to be listed as Tier 1 is that it must have supplied, or be firmly contracted to supply, products to six different eligible projects in the last two years, which include at least three different buyers. Must be at least 10MW or 10MWh (projects need only meet one of these thresholds).

What is the bloombergnef Tier 1 energy storage list?

The BloombergNEF Tier 1 Energy Storage list is intended to inform buyers about which batteries and/or energy storage systems are being used in recently developed projects, but should never replace a proper due diligence process in product selection. This document explains the tiering criteria and its limitations.

When was the energy storage methodology document published?

This document was published in September 2025, based heavily on the previous energy storage methodology document published in May 2025. The structure has been amended to align with other Bloomberg product methodologies.

What is the energy storage tiering threshold?

Starting from the 1Q 2025 list and for future lists, only projects at or above 10 megawatt or 10 megawatt-hours are relevant to energy storage tiering. Previous issues used 1MW or 1MWh as the threshold. The change was made because the energy storage market has grown and there are many more projects and suppliers at every scale.
