

Serbia outdoor mobile energy storage power supply price

Overview

What is the main energy source in Serbia?

Coal remains the primary energy source in Serbia, particularly lignite, which is extensively mined and used for power generation. The country's energy infrastructure is heavily dependent on coal-fired power plants, which provide the bulk of its electricity supply.

Does Serbia have a diversified energy source?

While coal dominates, efforts are underway to diversify Serbia's energy sources, particularly towards increasing the share of renewable energies like hydro, wind, and solar power, in response to environmental concerns and global energy trends.

Why are electricity prices so high in winter in Serbia?

If, on the other hand, the production of electricity is small and demand is high, prices will increase. Therefore, the price of electricity is often highest in winter, as the need for electricity for heating is highest. Electricity spot prices in Serbia today, hour by hour. Including prices for the last 30 days.

Does Serbia still use lignite?

Lignite still covers half of total energy consumption, despite the rising share of oil products. Many lignite-fired and hydropower projects remain on hold, despite new capacity needs. Serbia is developing new power and gas interconnections with neighbouring countries. The energy policy is a prerogative of the Ministry of Mining and Energy.
